9000 MARCH RACE HORSES SPONGED AT AGAWAM

Under a perfect sky, more than 100,000 men, women and children lined Charlestown's gaily decorated streets this afternoon and cheered 9000 marchers in the annual Bunker Hill Day parade.

The parade, big event of the 1937 anniversary of the famous battle, was held amid ideal weather conditions, as were the children's events in the forenoon and the thrilling sports program.

Thousands of flags and miles of bunting, ripped in a cool breeze from off the sea as the paraders made a three-mile procession of the historic hill's tall granite shaft. Sailors, doughboys and marines, war veterans and their women folk, drum corps of boys and girls and the usual bevy of public officials drew the applause of the throng, as they marched.

As for several years past, the

Fore River Bid on Warship Tops N.Y. By 4 Millions

By a margin of $4,024,176, the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation at Quincy apparently lost out today in competitive bidding for construction of a new battleship, according to dispatches from Washington.

The Bethlehem bid was $50,900,000, while that of the New York Shipbuilding Corporation, Camden, N. J., was down to $54,924,176.

Third bidder was the Newport News Shipbuilding and Drydock Company, Newport News, Va., which offered the Navy Department that it could not make a third price low "because of present difficulties and risks" in the steel industry.

This company offered an alternative bid of $47,820,994, however, on condition that it be reimbursed for any losses.

All three companies agreed to complete construction in four years.

Low bidder for construction of two submarines was the Electric Boat Company, Groton, Conn., with a proposal of $4,877,000 for one underway, boat only, and $2,912,000 each for two subs. to be completed in 24 and 31 months, respectively.

ROOSEVELT BACKS STEEL MEDIATION

Washington, June 17 (AP)—Secretary Perkins announced today appointment of a three-man board to mediate all current steel disputes.

She named Charles P. Taft, Lloyd K. Garrison and Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward F. McGrady as a federal steel mediation board authorized to investigate, conduct hearings, make findings of fact and act as "voluntary arbitrator" if both sides in the controversy so request. McGrady is a well known Boston man.

Miss Perkins said the board would set up headquarters at Cleveland immediately.

She said McGrady, who is returning from Europe, would arrive in the United States Saturday night.

The Secretary said she had been in communication with Taft and Garrison and that they would start work at once.

Betty Alden on 'Beacon Hill'

By BETTY ALDEN

IF WE ARE NOT mistaken the date at the top of this page is June 17, which means that the long awaited Bunker hill day has arrived... bringing a feeling of satisfaction in the historians and patriotic pride to most of us... freedom to the colleges... joy to workers who get a half-holiday... double joy to those who get the whole day off... and, most of all, fun and excitement to the yachtsman who has spent all his spare time during the winter, sailing, repairing and painting... in preparation for the day when he can put her (the yacht) in the water and get her under sail... and that is that day... the first races of the season are being held at the Cohasset Yacht Club and though other clubs along shore have different schedules, some earlier and some later, all good sailors should have their boats in the water and under sail today, for the last one in is so and so... incidentally several forgotten wives and yachting widows tell us that the reason a yacht is always considered to be "feminine" and spoken of as "she" and "her" is so they can say to their husbands, on occasion "Here at home we never see you more, you're just married to that old boat!"

MARY HASTINGS

The splash of the various launchings during the past weeks will be as nothing compared to the "splash heard round the bay" when every one jumps in for a first dip in the new pool at the Corinthian Yacht Club in Marblehead which will have its formal opening Saturday... The pool is ideally situated, high up on the rocks, commanding an excellent view of the harbor... Sandwiches and other refreshments will be served on the terrace so members fortunate enough to have the time may spend a whole afternoon, right there... First, watching the start of races in the harbor... then after the boats have rounded the point, swimming and other refreshments will be served on the terrace so members fortunate enough to have the time may spend a whole afternoon, right there... First, watching the start of races in the harbor... then after the boats have rounded the point, swimming and other refreshments will be served on the terrace so members fortunate enough to have the time may spend a whole afternoon, right there...

Mimi Van Antwerp's friends are saying that when Mimi isn't down at Ipswich, "Ipswich" is Mimi's house... all of which sounds as if the cherub little fellow with the bow and arrow has decided to put both Van Antwerp twins on his list of targets and is now aiming one of his little darts in the direction of Mimi and "Ipswich"... Betty Van Antwerp, who was his target last winter, spends nearly every week-end visiting her fiancé and his family in Wilton N. H.

Mary Hastings and Virginia Richmond are sailing Friday, the 25th, aboard the Volendam bound for a sightseeing tour which will include "everything" in Europe... This is the mixed group tour conducted by Mark Law... with a male contingent made up of Harvard Law and Business School students... They will land in England and visit the Continent later...

Elinor Fay Announces Engagement

ONLY A COMPARATIVE few of her friends will be able to show their best wishes upon Elinor "Borfy" Fay on her engagement to Irvin McDowell Garfield Jr. because she sails for Europe, Saturday, only two days after the news of her engagement is made known...

But she'll be back on these shores before many moons have passed and from then on she and her fiancé will be attending dances, shows and summer parties together, where their friends can have more ample time to wish them well... Elinor and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard D. Fay of Coudage Hill, Cambridge, are giving a small, informal tea this afternoon to officially announce the engagement... after which Elinor and Mrs. Fay will have to pack their traveling bags, and collect their passports in preparation for departing on Saturday... Sally Warren Richardson of Brookline will make a threesome of their party...

Elinor has been a scintillating comedienne in more than one Vincent show... in fact, it would be difficult to imagine a revue without at least one act in which she sings, dances or plays a comic role...

She also belongs to the Junior League and graduated from Winsor before making her debut in the 1932-33 season... Her fiancé, the son of the Irvin McDowell Garfields of Marlborough street and Falmouth, prepared for college at St. Paul's School and graduated from Harvard in 1935... He is a brother of Eleanor and Jane Garfield... while Elinor's sister is Mrs. Robinson Bailey of Groton... The future bridegroom belongs to The Delphic, Hays Pudding and Institute of 1770...

Plans Debut in December

THOUGH HER OWN coming out party is in the distant future—December to be exact—Virginia Ramsey is already leaving a deep niche for herself in the roster of popular debut of the new season... Ginny and her parents are enmeshed in their Marblehead summer home for the season... Ginny is, incidentally, lovely to look at, with medium stature, Titian hair, and a warm, sweet personality expressed in her manner with strangers...

The blinds are drawn tightly at the windows of the Bartlett Harwood's new home on Beacon street, opposite the Common... which evidently indicates that Mr. and Mrs. Harwood have moved their family to Aurora, N. Y., where they have spent many summers in the past... A few days away on Beacon street, the Ronald Lyman's house also is shuttered and closed for the summer... The Lyman's have an estate at Dark Harbor, Maine...

Worcester Man Weds

Miss Katherine Huntington Bigelow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mason Bigelow of New York, was married yesterday afternoon to Carter Chapin Higgins, son of the socially prominent John Woodman Higgins of Worcester. The ceremony took place in St. James Church, New York, with a reception at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride wore traditional ivory satin, and her attendants, including a number of Boston society girls, wore organza frocks, with pictures of ruffling, and ligheron skirts trimmed with bands Cambridge University.

New Hampshire and Chestnut Hill notables attend the Church of the Redeemer wedding of this June bride, Mrs. Frances Keyes, pictured here cutting her cake at the reception following the ceremony. The bridegroom, dutiful, ready to pass

Aristos, Proparvulis Clubs End Season With Dances

And what is so rare as a night in June... with a smooth band playing the latest melodies in a country club setting of lounge and terrace and sunbath... a fifty-three day cruise to Mediterranean ports... which will avoid a sailor's work.

Also on the Aristos and Proparvulis club were first in their series last night, one engaging its latest at the Woodland Country Club in Newton... Proparvulis journeying out to the American Country Club for its annual good-bye to the year.

It's a very cool, murmured Holmes Stone called from the supper table last evening at the Andover Country Club.

And by way of emphasis will say it was cold at the Proparvulis party, but not swing music made it jolly and the moonlight made it romantic and festive of balloons made it colorful.

Tuberculosis Cause Found in Tests

By G. B. LAL (Universal Service Science Editor) New York, June 17.—Discovery of certain proteins which cause tuberculosis in man by Dr. Florence R. Sierbort was revealed here today.

Dr. Sierbort, in research financially aided by the National Tuberculosis Association, broke the human tuberculosis germs into their chemical ingredients.

She obtained a definite kind of protein different from any other known. When injected into the skin of the guinea pigs, each one of these proteins showed specific tubercular reactions, that is, the proteins alone produced in these animals the well-known symptoms of real tuberculosis infection.

Five different strains of human tuberculosis germs were broken up, and their proteins isolated. All strains produced about the same kind of disease-causing protein. A fifth of a gram from a litter of the original isolates.

PROBE ILLEGAL LIQUOR SALES BY DRUGGISTS

Investigations of the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Commission have been recently engaged for the past 24 hours on a state-wide investigation of hundreds of drug stores illegally dispensing bottled liquors. It was learned by the Boston Evening American today.

Complaints against four such establishments have already been made in district courts of Burlington, Ware, Northbury, Northampton and Great Barrington, and scores of other prosecutions are forecast.

ABC inspectors will ask for $100 fines and suspended jail sentences for the first conviction, for violation of the jail sentences and suspension of licenses for repetition of the offense.

Officials of the ABC commission stressed that this drive was in no way connected with the reputable pharmacists doing business within the law, but against certain drug stores which, in violation of the law, were selling liquor.

DRUG BUSINESS

The opening of the drive followed a survey throughout the state in which large distributors of bottled alcoholic beverages cooperated with the commission.

One of the most startling of the violations reached by this survey was that certain drug stores in the state were doing more business in selling liquor than the licensed alcoholic beverage stores in their districts, the commission disclosed.

Many of this business was in white whiskey, beer and ale, it was said, beverages which are not usually prescribed for emergency medicinal purposes.

The worst offenders have been selling as much liquor after hours and on Sundays and holidays that many of them have turned into closed at ordinary pharmacy hours, according to complaints.

MANY COMPLAINTS

ABC officials admitted frankly that the investigation was proceeding in packages goods stores associations, but added that scores of letters have been received from persons living near pharmacies now under scrutiny.

Some of these letters charged that drug stores which formerly closed at 10 or 11 o'clock at night are now keeping open until as late as 8 o'clock in the morning—just a half liquor.

TAXI OPERATORS

Taxi operators in at least two communities close to Boston are under "outside attention" for these establishments and will supply a thirty citizens with almost any beverage he wants, at any time, the commission was told.

The prosecution of detected offenders will be made under Section 8 of the state liquor control act.

Six-Year Sentence For Stabbing Girl

Leonard E. Miller, Lowell mill hand, who allegedly stabbed a 22-year-old music teacher on April 23 because she refused to marry him, was sentenced to four to six years in State Prison by Judge John E. Sullivan in Middlesex Superior Court today.

Miller was charged with assault with intent to murder Miss Florida Thomas, of Lacey avenue, Lowell, a model instructor at St. Stanislaus school.

V. F. W. CONVENTION TO HONOR CONNERY

For the first time in 37 years of convention will be the Women's memorial services individual will auxiliary, the Sons of V. F. W., and be singled out for special tribute by Veterans of Foreign Wars this evening, and that individual will be the late Congressman William F. Connery of Lynn.

The annual memorial service will be the first formal exercise to honor the veterans and their auxiliaries gathering in Hull today.

The Rev. Wallace E. Hayes, state chaplain, will officiate at the memorial service which is for all the war dead, collectively.

Because Congressman Connery was such a staunch supporter of veteran legislation, however, his memory will be honored singly as well. The Rev. Hiram Weil of Hull will assist.

Streets and buildings were gaily decorated with flags, bunting and "Welcome" signs at the vanguard of an expected 25,000 poured in throughout the day.

SUIT OVER WOMAN'S SEA BURIAL OPENS

Four cousins of the late Elizabeth Ann Ahearn, 65-year-old spinster, and former school principal of Danvers, went to court in New York today as claimants in a $100,000 damage suit against the French Line (Compagnie Generale Transatlantique).

They charged that Miss Ahearn, who died on one of the line's ships, the Ile de France, about noon on August 4, 1935, was buried at sea the following morning without her relatives' consent.

The plaintiffs are Daniel F. O'Neill, a retired postoffice inspector of Washington, D. C.; Thomas H. O'Neill, William H. McGrath and Annie T. Melanson, all of Boston, first cousins of Miss Ahearn who had no nearer living relatives.

The trial is before Federal Judge John G. Knox and a jury.

Counsel for the line contends Miss Ahearn's body was not found in her stateroom until 12 or 14 hours after death, and that its condition made it necessary to dispose of it for the welfare of other passengers.

Contest for the four cousins contends the sea burial was unwarranted, that there was a mortuary chamber on the ship, and that the ship was only 650 miles from New York when the burial took place.

Miss Ahearn was a devout Catholic. Her cousins charge that the sea burial deprived them of the privilege of burying her with the benediction of the church.

Use JENNEY Gasoline and Free Your Motor of Hard Carbon

Hard, flinty carbon steals motor power—takes heavy toll of gasoline, and ruins finely-machined motor parts. But now you can check hard carbon in your motor—and keep it checked. Just use

Hy-Power or Aero Solvenized Gasoline—the only gasolines which have the ability to dissolve carbon binder and reduce hard carbon to loose, powdery formation that can be blown out the exhaust.

Hard carbon goes out—power comes back—gasoline mileage goes up.

And these remarkable motor fuels—Hy-Power and Aero, both solvenized—are available to you at no extra cost.

'IF I GO DOWN, I'LL GET UP'---BRADDOCK

AUSTEN LAKE

World Champion
Surprisingly Calm
As Fight Nears

Grand Beach, Mich., June 17—Feathers of faint rain were falling over the unkempt woods where Champion James J. Braddock holds his training court. The waters of Lake Michigan, turquoise and placid, licked the shore. Scrub oaks and a tangle of serpentine vines surrounded the blistered frame building which had been the servants' quarters of the Golfhouse Hotel. The parent building crowned a rise and looked morbidly out to sea—shabby, genteel relic of boom-time glory.

AUSTEN LAKE

There was no punctilio prize fight court with snobbish protocol such as Max Baer, Jack Sharkey and Max Schmeling had kept during their championship reigns. Before Braddock, being a champion had called for regal dignity, social separation from sparring swipes, armed police equestries and a staff of official yes-men.

But Braddock lives on democratic levels with his stooges, taking part in their foistered mischief, eating the same food on a knife-knicked table and remaining plain Jim to one and all.

He was sprawling on the front cushions of an automobile, eyes were lax, hand and unfocused, on the ceiling. His back was propped at an awkward angle. There were no uniformed men lurking about to repel process servers, or any other person who might wish to drop a showful of distress on the family's cook pot. Just Jim, the ram, scrubby solitude and a lone lamp.

"H'uh," quoth King James, extending a limp hand. Why do prize fighters give such flabby handclasp—like the feel of a fresh caught haddock?

In his monosyllabic base Jim talked fight. He spoke with the detached calm of a man who had dimmed down the wick of his intelligence and left only a feeble flame necessary for muscular motion.

No tension here of mind and nerves cursed by imagination. None of Max Baer's nervous twitters, nor Schmeling's Teuton control, nor Jack Sharkey's nervous spasms as they neared the day of the big business.

When I mentioned it he said contentedly "Shuh." In his 13-year career in the prize ring he had been "supposed to be murdered so many times." He said that this was just more of the same.

There is something in that. In his undetoured day, until he was asked to become the world No. 1 knuck-duster, Braddock had often spun his spine on the canvas floor. He often perhaps, but enough to have no delusions as to his capacity.

He said, with one ear still cocked toward the dashboard band, "If I get knocked down Tuesday, I'll get up again."

He said it simply. As a pre-match statement this is unique in my experience. No fighters on the eve of the grand, gala, terrestrial, knock-out.

Others will growl guttural promises to mangle "dees" and will punch of his massive fist. He had predicted with reptilian precision that he would knock down his opponent with a carl of his lips.

But Braddock merely promised negligently that if knocked down he would rise and fight some more. No noisy mouthings to comfort inner fears, because clearly there were no inner fears.

Don't mistake. As a younger and probably, better conditioned human animal, Louis should win. But he will win with his fists alone and not with the assistance of his old spectral ally, dread, which caused all previous opponents except Schmeling to disintegrate into quivering hulks before their run was honestly complete. I feel that Braddock, as a fighter of unquestioned heart, means to win or end with his head in the "Little Black Bag."

A bronzed middle-aged, steel-toothed poly short thrust his last round and a crowd of spectators was seen in a twinkling of an eye to be a crowd of spectators.

From the next corner where a universal shudder had been felt, the black shadow of a punching bag sounded.

It must have been a king came from a kitchen where men were white clothed and kept. Some small boys peered through a crack in the door, some small boys peered through a crack in the door, some small boys peered through a crack in the door.

"Yeah," said Braddock, "I've seen him in five fights," the man being Louis, and the fights being those against Carnera, Tiger, Schmeling, Paulino and Pistor.

Gee, puncher, he grained, good, let's hooker. Any weakness?

Look easy to hit with a right hand, maybe. Braddock, a strong power, "that's weakness enough for any fighter I ever saw," said the famous engineer. "Now are you set?"

Wilson Hurls Opening Game for Red Sox

A Bit of Heaven on the Sopwith Ship of Leisure

LIFE OF EASE.

Not always so, but here we see the Endeavour II crew relaxing, above, during a rest run off Newport, R. I. But when the America's Cup races get under way there is going to be a lot of work. This photo was taken aboard the English yacht.

LOOKING ALOFT.

In the center circle we see Mr. and Mrs. T. O. M. Sopwith casting a critical eye over the rigging of their Endeavour II. Both would like nothing better than to return the famed England. It has been in this country since 1851. This may be England's turn.
